Related Collections.Q: Warning when i run npm start When I am running my angularjs app using npm start, I get the following warning: WARNING in./node_modules/angular-translate/node_modules/angular-translate-loader-url/dist/angular-translate-loader-url.js 3765:75-76 Critical dependency: the request of a dependency is an expression It seems like a generic error which I can not resolve, my angular dependencies are fine and working. A: It looks like angular-translate had something wrong with the version of angular-translate-loader. I had this error as well, and the following line caused it: import { gettext } from 'angular-translate'; I fixed it by upgrading angular-translate to angular-translate-loader 6.0.2: npm install --save angular-translate@6.0.2 I found this answer that mentions the same issue. Former President Barack Obama took time during his inauguration speech to take a shot at President Donald Trump. Obama, who gave a soaring speech which included the first major policy pronouncement of a new Trump administration, accused the Republican of failing to uphold his promises of a new start for the country. "What the world heard was not so much the message of the change we seek," he said, according to NPR. The president-elect has been a thorn in Obama�
