KWOC KWOC (106.7 FM) is a commercial radio station licensed to Orange, California, serving the Orange-Tustin-Newport Beach, California media market. The station is owned by Vista Broadcast Group and licensed to Windy Ridge Media. The station's studios are located in Santa Ana, while its transmitter is in Orange, broadcasting at 106.7 MHz with an effective radiated power of 10,000 watts. History The station began as KWRP, a country music station with a power of 6,000 watts. It was owned by the Ridge Radio, Inc. (later Ridge Communications Inc.), a subsidiary of Ridge Media, Inc. of Denver, Colorado. By the late 1970s, KWRP was changing formats and moving to an all-news/talk format as KBNC. The new format was a simulcast of KRBV AM 1310. In 1987, the station changed its call sign to KWHW and moved to 104.7 MHz. KWHW shifted its format to a Christian contemporary music format, branded as "The Light", and dropped the news/talk programming. In 1989, the station changed call letters to KRST and adopted the KRST call letters that now identify a 102.1 MHz station in San Diego. In 1990, the station returned to a talk radio format, branded as "The Patriot", and moved to 106.7 MHz. In 1994, the station's format changed to Modern Rock, branded as "The Fox". In 1996, the station was purchased by four Orange County businessmen and was rebranded as "The Fox" under new call letters KWOC. On May 27, 1997, the station switched from its "The Fox
