Localized actinic and diffuse cutaneous melanomas. A total of 106 localized melanomas were studied. Twenty-three cases were clinically asymmetrical. A comparative histologic study of the involved versus uninvolved areas revealed a significant similarity in the architecture and cytologic features. The cytologic features in the clinically involved areas were not more favorable in those that later became melanoma metastases. These findings argue against a general morphologic advantage for melanomas arising in one site as compared with those arising in other sites. The factors which influence the development of melanomas within individual sites are discussed.

Q: How to change the text of a Button in excel I'm trying to make some buttons (about 50) with different names and text in Excel 2010, and I can't figure out how to do this. I tried this code: Sub ButtonClick() Dim btn As Button Set btn = Range("A1:A50").Find(what:="TEST", LookIn:=xlValues, lookat:=xlWhole) btn.Caption = "NEW TEXT" End Sub And while it works fine to change the text of all the buttons in a row, it makes all the text in all the rows "NEW TEXT". Any ideas?

A: I do not think you can change a button's Caption. You will have to create new buttons and alter their text. You should be able to use the code in this answer to create your buttons. To change a button's text, use this code Dim newButton
