Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a hysteresis loop measuring method, a magnetization hysteresis loop measuring apparatus, and a soft magnetic material. 2. Background Art A hysteresis loop, which is a kind of magnetic characteristic (magnetic property), is a curve of the remanence is caused to vary with a magnetic field. The hysteresis loop has a property such that, in an area having H (magnetic field)-axis as a horizontal axis and a remanent magnetization magnetic field M (magnetic field) as a vertical axis, as a magnetic field is changed along a point on a curve having a loop, the remanent magnetization magnetic field (along a direction perpendicular to the magnetic field direction) also changes with the direction of a change in the magnetic field. A magnetic characteristic having such a property is called a magnetic hysteresis loop. FIG. 5 is a drawing showing the magnetic hysteresis loop of a soft magnetic material. A saturated magnetic field is a magnetic field at which the magnetic flux density of the soft magnetic material reaches a value close to the maximum magnetic flux density. As shown in FIG. 5, the saturated magnetic field increases with an increase in temperature, and has a magnitude of around 4000 A. The magnetic hysteresis loop of a soft magnetic material is generally measured in the following manner. First, a measuring apparatus is prepared. The measuring apparatus has a magnetic field generator for giving a magnetic field to a soft magnetic material sample to measure the magnetic hysteresis loop, and a detector for detecting the magnetic flux density inside the soft magnetic material sample. A soft magnetic material sample which has been magnetized in advance is placed in the measuring apparatus, and the measuring apparatus measures the magnetic hysteresis loop. However, there is a problem in that, in the soft magnetic material measuring method, the magnetic hysteresis loop of the soft magnetic material sample may vary depending on an ambient temperature and/or the initial magnetization state of the soft magnetic material sample, and the hysteresis loop cannot be measured accurately. The present invention is made in view of such circumstances, and an object thereof is to provide a measuring method
