▲ Walkthrough ► The Story: (Very Short) —-Story—- From the first time I met the Elden Ring, I have wanted to become one. I started off by reading the book 'The Threads of Destiny' that the elder told me about, then I met up with the people I had been ordered to kill. While I was fighting, I heard a voice calling to me. I was surprised to see an old man standing near me. He said "I have no quarrel with you; I only want to see you and the world go to ruin." Then, he disappeared. The voice was the elder's, and I put this into practice and saved the people of this world. The elders that I met and spoke with told me to gather the elementals that had been hidden throughout the world and revive them. And I did so, sacrificing myself in the process. After that, I met with a person at a summit, who told me to expand the empire, and I led the pure warriors I had gathered to the Elden empire and expanded it. The region where I found the gold was attacked by the mercenaries of an island, so I sent the soldiers to defend them, but no one came back. This was also due to the betrayal of one of the people I had gathered, and I was told that they were probably captured by the island's people. The war with the island was still going on, and it was too much trouble to return to the kingdom. I decided to travel to the temple of the sun. I spoke with the people of the sun who told me about the five goddesses and I was greeted with words of encouragement, and I decided that I would bring the country's economy back to life. I returned to my capital and attended a ball with the soldiers. As I was drinking, someone attacked the soldiers. I defeated the brigand and gave him the 'Stone Of The Threads Of Destiny'. The soldier's companion and I decided to travel to the mountain of jewels. As we journeyed, we came upon the titanic daimyo who told me that the people were suffering from famine, so we went to where the villagers were and fed them. On the way back, the thief that I had rescued went to a small village and rescued the elderly bff6bb2d33

AKBK activity was present throughout preimplantation development and increased during the first few cell divisions of embryogenesis. The onset of AKBK activity preceded the increase in Embryonic Genome size that occurs during this period. Hence, at least some of the enzymes required for Embryonic Genome expansion are already present at the beginning of Mouse Preimplantation Development. FILED NOT FOR PUBLICATION
