FIFA 22 introduces all-new animations and customization features, as well as the My Player career mode, which evolves the Player Journey and creates a digital representation of the player using a unique gameplay system that gives players new ways to set their style, play their way and interact with the ball. FIFA 22 also introduces "Franchise Mode," which offers players the chance to share their passion for football by participating in the creation of their very own fictional club. The new motion capture data collected from more than 50 real-world footballers on the pitch, along with the player "journey data" now captured during video analysis sessions, are used to bring the player to life in the game. FIFA 22 delivers more detail and authenticity in player movement, physics and animations than FIFA 2011. For the first time in a FIFA game, you can take control of more than one player at the same time and make a substitution. This feature offers players more control over a match and gives them the opportunity to experiment with formations and tactics, and find creative ways to play against their opponents. In addition to the new global game experience that more accurately reflects the intensity of a professional match, global and local tournaments, along with the new World Cup, have been expanded to make soccer matches even more exciting and unpredictable. Live player camera angles allows you to see from a first person point-of-view with the ball, friends and opponents, and all of the commentary and crowd noises are coming directly from the stadium, replicating the atmosphere inside a real stadium. This technology and the addition of crowd sounds and commentary, which has been improved significantly compared to FIFA 2011, enable you to feel the emotion of real spectators who are cheering your success. Additionally, gamers can now share their passion for soccer by customizing their players on the pitch, seeing how the players look when dressed in iconic club, league and country uniforms and more. A new customization engine in FIFA 22 allows players to build their players into the ultimate individual superstar. FIFA 22 also features the "FIFA Ultimate Team" mode, which allows players to take control of a team of 20 players and compete in games against friends, and other players. Players can also play with and against AI opponents in online multiplayer modes. "We have many of the most-requested features and innovations we have delivered since the launch of FIFA 11.
