One of the most important features of Photoshop is that it allows you to save a document as a file for later use. These saved files are known as „saved documents“. The saved documents that are placed in the standard Photoshop documents folder are called „saved as“ files (FAS files). To open and close saved documents, you use the Photoshop document window (see Figure 5-1). You can save a new document that already has image data in it, or you can start with a blank document. **Figure 5-1:** The Photoshop document window. Photoshop also allows you to place and replace images in the available layers of the image window. For more information on layers, see “The Layers dialog box,” later in this chapter.

As of the current release (July 2019), Photoshop Elements 12 includes: Global Exposure Correction Selective Adjustment Smart Brush Motion Blur Color Balance Vibrance Tone Curve Background Blur Rotate & Distort Gradient Map Document Bin Cloud Import High Pass Lux Image Overlay Text All-in-One Photo Merge Visible & Alpha Layers Merge Layers & Layers Layer Masking Clone Liquify Live-Type Virtual Reality Ribbon Filters Video Enhancer Colourists Illustrators Digital Cameras USB Sync Camera Shake Reduction Slideshow All-In-One Photo A great feature is the all-in-one photo tool. Photoshop Elements can import one or multiple photos and merge them as one image. To use the feature: Select the photos you wish to merge Open your images in the library Press “Windows + G” Select the tool Drag the photos in the left margin to create the merging You can also add a selection mask and/or a toning mask in order to differentiate the color of the merged images. After a merging process you can: Reposition the images with the freehand tools Smooth the edit, with the pre-set “Learn from others”. The tool will reduce an image’s edges and sharpen the detail of the image Quickly edit with the double strokes, with regular curves or straighten the image Quickly mask a selection or a path with the selection tool. After, you can highlight the different areas by applying a different toning. Also, you can blur the photo, you can rename the image, you can create a slideshow, and export the file to just name it. All in One Photo To open all the photos in the library (at the same time): Windows + G All in One Photo Merge and save the image To do the same process to merge more images: Open the library Press “Windows + G” Select All in One a681f4349e

Characteristics of metabolic activities of mice fed different levels of fresh peas, dry peas, or soybean. Metabolic activity of mice was studied following the administration of different amounts of fresh, dry, or ground soybean, or of dried green or cooked dry peas. Levels of plasma glucose were reduced by as much as 34% following administration of a 7.4% ground-soybean diet. Plasma levels of triglyceride, phospholipid, non-esterified fatty acid, and cholesterol were not changed by any of the dietary treatments. Liver glycogen was increased by as much as 17% in mice fed ground-soybean diets, but was reduced by as much as 33% following administration of the boiled-dry-pea diet. Fecal output was increased by as much as 37% following feeding of ground-soybean, and as much as 24% following feeding of boiled-dry-peas. Liver-RNA fractions were increased by as much as 14% following feeding of dried green peas, and by as much as 80% following feeding of ground-soybean. Liver lipids were elevated to as much as 50% following feeding of the boiled-dry-pea diet. Hepatic uricase was elevated by as much as 24% following feeding of a 7.4% ground-soybean diet, and by as much as 50% following feeding of a 0.6% fresh-pea diet.

Politics Nelson Mandela's Life And Legacy Spanned 20th Century By Sally Kohn Today marks the 20th anniversary of Nelson Mandela's death, and while the day is being marked both nationally and internationally, it is being celebrated in South Africa, where his legacy continues to unite and inspire today. In a speech last month, former South African President Kgalema Motlanthe said "Nelson Mandela brought us more together than we were as a nation ever before," and we should remember that "in his life and legacy, we all witnessed how a simple truth that no one has the right to humiliate anyone else can unite us and unite us in a way that we can't ever lose." As South Africans and human beings around the globe remember Nelson Mandela, we have to remember that his legacy isn't about how many years he spent behind bars, or any place he may have been in exile, or any nation he was barred from entering. His life mattered most because it was a story of a

It's past capacity and the bonfire is out of control. The wind catches the cherry blossoms, blowing them past the stage and into the audience. And as Cherry Blossoms Drown the Stage, we realize we need to rethink the concept of time. We need to keep going without stopping. We need to move forward without looking back. Time doesn't need to represent a forward progression, but rather a memory that pales in comparison to how much time we've already spent in the saddle. The memory of something terrible and beautiful. The memory of something beautiful that will never be repeated. Inconsequential Art | Theatre Company presents Cherry Blossoms Drown The Stage, a new play written by Dominic Barton & the original music & lyrics by Rhys Forrester. Thursday February 8 - Sunday February 11, 2019 at the Club Fringe, 1650 East Eighth Street, Austin, TX. The show is running at capacity. Admission $5 - $15. Call 512-304-0353 or 786-503-3200 or visit www.theclubfringe.com for more information. Supporting Organizations About us Inconsequential Art | Theatre Company is a non-profit organization that produces innovative performances in music, theatre, and arts that use the medium of the club stage. Inconsequential Art | Theatre Company seeks to create music theatre that provokes us to ask our selves: What is it we really want to know? Who are we? What is our life about? Inconsequential Art | Theatre Company seeks to reflect these questions in an experience that is both visceral and immediate; all without excessive pretense or false glitz. Instead, we seek to build connections that change our immediate environment as we change into our audience members. Inconsequential Art | Theatre Company values work that presents itself as a necessary, even eloquent exercise in the continual rejection of artifice and pretense. 2018-2019 Season I Care For You Opening February 8, 2019 Written by Cory LaZatra Directed by Dominique LaZatra Music and Lyrics by Rhys Forrester Music and Lyrics by Dominique LaZatra Based upon poetry by Michael Todd Clark A dramatic presentation of a text performed with interspersed, non-traditional text. A monologue is told to a group of loved ones and the audience over the course of the evening by
