Bejeweled meets Minecraft for a mix of addictively fun gameplay and frustration in the ultimate survival sandbox experience! Story: Your small, peaceful village of the Greenleafs has fallen under a curse. Your evil uncle has come to steal your diamonds, leaving only his loyal steed to guard the land. Can you save the town before it's too late? Game Features: Choose Your Character: Eight different dwarves to play (all unique and awesome). Each with his own skills, traits and dialogue. A Day In The Life: Each Dwarf has a different job, each with a different set of powers. As time passes, your Dwarves are interrupted by tasks that range from mining to engineering to delivering babies. Sandbox: Create, explore, build, survive, and die. Customize your Dwarfs however you want and see where they'll take you. Travel between your Dwarfs and save them from traps and death. Each hour of gameplay is a new, randomly-generated world. Zen: Relax and watch your Dwarfs do everything from exploring to mining to building to exploring to mining to building to exploring to mining... you get the idea. Feel the Power: Your Dwarfs can dig hundreds of blocks deep underground at a time, scooping up valuable resources as they go. Want to dig something deeper? They can do that too. Macro-Manager: Each Dwarf's labor budget is controlled by a key that has something to do with their personality and goals. Dwarfs love new cars, and diamonds make them rich. Can you change the goal of your Dwarf and see the impact it has on the world around you? Virtual Tablets: Watch your gameplay on your computer with the included Chrome extension! Play with friends, see your high scores, even call people to your game. Steam: You can join your Steam friends and chat in the Steam lobby. Steam achievements for your sandbox games, along with Steam Cloud so you can play on any of your computers and resumes between them all. Add-Ons: Can't wait to see where you take the Dwarfs? Download more from the Dwarfs!?: Games Pack! Welcome to Dwarfs!?: About the developer: So go play something that's fun, go build a house, go defeat your enemies! Hey

Men of War: Vietnam (FPS Game) Men of War: Vietnam is a third-person shooter video game developed by the Canadian studio, Volition Games Inc and published by Spike. As a successor to the Men of War (MOX) series, Men of War: Vietnam was intended to be "a visually stunning, open-world, multi-faction, action-strategy game with deep single player campaign". The game was released on 28 June 2009 for Microsoft Windows. Men of War: Vietnam was eventually released on Steam on 21 April 2012 and is a standalone title, although it is still listed as "in development" on the Steam website. A further follow-up was announced. Men of War 3: Green Storm will include many of the features from Men of War: Vietnam, but will also include more single-player and multiplayer content. Men of War: Vietnam (FPS Game) Men of War: Vietnam was developed by Volition Games Inc and published by EA. It was released on 16 December 2005. Gameplay Men of War: Vietnam had a subscription-free downloadable content known as Men of War: Vietnam Episodes Pack (MOX Episodes Pack). It included all the single player campaign missions which can be played individually or in any order, and a new single player campaign, as well as a series of multiplayer map and game modes. Men of War: Vietnam was the first game in the MOX series to be fully story-driven, to allow players to take on the role of a US, Soviet, Chinese, or colonial player through story-driven missions. Structure Men of War: Vietnam included four single player modes, five online game modes (ranked and unranked) and nine multiplayer modes (ranked and unranked). Single-player campaigns allow players to play as the USA, Soviet Union, China or their allies, each with their own factions and core operations. Players can take control over a region of Vietnam from different times of the war, from 1965 to 1975. Single player modes include: Conquest mode (Team of two-five players), Recon mode (Team of one player), and on a private server the R.O.W. (Rogue Operational Wargame) mode, where the player can play any situation independently of the matchmaking system. Online modes include: Patrol (team of two players in a duel match), Rush (team of two players in a one-on-one kill or be killed

What's new in Air Combat Arena:

Explanation When we think debris, we really mean any item that is not cargo or a sovereign military vessel. This includes guns, sticks, helmets, barrels and drones. What is the purpose of a debris field? Its operation provides zone support, mobility, autonomy and opportunity to discover things we might not be aware of yet. And for this to happen, we need trained people to direct our tech, designed, developed, made and stored resources into right place, get instantly factored and to label both existing and new reports. And of course, the curation of the data. This is why a real time event stream is required. How can we prevent the debris field problem? We need to monitor all of our operations to reduce missed opportunities before the operation begins, map information to send to a right people, use a real time reliable event stream to keep improving mission and send it to the right stakeholders. Why is it better to do it this way? Because with appropriate technology we can de-conflict with regular hull mounted and networked sensors, to make the mission operational and also make it feasible to do it in the frequency of a regular vessel with predictive operations. What kind of technology can do this? The following technologies are already available and have been continuously improving during the past 15 years. Planning, Design, Monitoring and Control These include technologies to: coordinate with site specific sensors; send data to relevant people and authority automatically; have reporting capability, get traffic analysis and recommendations from data; get the quality of the collected data and how it fits into bigger reality, alert to wrong input from people or surroundings. These technologies are developed, made, designed, tested and perfected, and there is no need for us to develop our own low end solution if they already have it! A full team control from air to sea and vice versa, knowing when and where to send people, when to send a boat in the sea for example, when and where to send a smaller boat to go with a larger ship, knowing where to build an island and what to build on it, controlling all human element and making them all more efficient. The types of sensors are illustrated below, they are available now! To do this, we need to setup a control system, let us consider just one of the factors, and control it as illustrated in the following image below. An automatic one control system is ready-to
