The following Photoshop tips will help you get the most out of your Photoshop workflow. With these tips, you will learn some of the most important aspects of using Photoshop and provide a starting point to many helpful tutorials. Photoshop Tips for Image Editing Lighten and darken sections of an image Use the Opacity slider to lighten or darken specific parts of an image. While you can achieve a similar result by moving the layer adjustment handles directly, this works well when you want to override a specific area with the same adjustment. Windows: Mac: 1. Select the layer you wish to lighten or darken, and press Opt+ (Windows) or Shift+Ctrl+Alt+ (Mac). 2. In the Layers palette, select the box you wish to lighten or darken and click the slider. 3. Adjust the Opacity slider to change the intensity of the adjustment. 4. Repeat steps 1-3 for other areas of the image that require lightening or darkening. Mask out areas of an image that you don't want to edit While it's easy to lighten or darken specific areas of a layer, it's also easy to accidentally lighten or darken areas you didn't intend to. To remove certain areas of your image, use a mask. Create a selection of the areas you wish to mask out, and use the Free Transform tool to make the area smaller and clearer. Once the area is clear, delete it from the layer. Mac: To make this a better experience for future editing, it's always a good idea to create a duplicate of the area you're editing. Then you can edit in the duplicate, and find any adjustments you need to make in the original area. Windows: Windows: 1. Select the mask you wish to delete from the layer. 2. Invert the selection. Windows: 3. Then select the area you want to keep.

A soft brush is an excellent tool for applying soft color, which is also known as pastel or pallet color. Bright colors will tend to become more colorful with this effect. You can use a soft-edged brush to apply a soft brush to the edges of any photo or video. In Photoshop, a soft-edged brush is most often used to apply pastel colors to a bright-colored photo. Soft brushes are not the only way to achieve a soft appearance. A gradient map can give a soft appearance, too. Or you can use the Clone Stylize tool, which creates a soft transition effect from one photo to another. This is a video tutorial to show you how to use the soft-edge brush to blend colors. You can make a picture look better by lightening it or darkening it. Do you know how? To lighten an image, make sure that the image is 100% Opaque and then select the Brush tool. Click on the white foreground color (the color that is not black) to make the foreground darker. To darken an image, click on the black background color (the color that is not white) to make the background lighter. Now make sure that you have selected a soft-edged brush (a shape selection brush or the Brush Tool) and paint over the image with the foreground color. If your foreground color is darker than your background color, you will make the picture lighter. If your foreground color is lighter than your background color, you will darken the picture. Video tutorial on the darkening process. You can see this effect when you flip an iPhone's image upside down. Here is a video tutorial for this effect. Is there a Photoshop method for making my photographs look better in the print? There are some Photoshop techniques that can help improve the print quality of your photos. Q: How to compare between two string as VARCHAR(100)? I have a table in which the column's datatype is VARCHAR(100). I want to take the data from the table and compare it with a string as shown: SELECT * FROM table WHERE FIND_IN_SET(STR, 'String to match'); If the FIND_IN_SET returns any data, then I need to take a specific row and display the FIND_IN_SET result. For example, I want to take a row like this: String value = 'Abc'; and compare it with the string: String to match = 'Abc' If these two are equal, I need to take a specific row where 'Value' column equals to 'Value to match'. The column could be multiple columns, but I need to display the data in a specific row(in this case the row with string 'Abc'). Any help is appreciated. A: You can use CONCAT function. SELECT * FROM table WHERE CONCAT(';', STR, ';') = 'Abc; Abc;'; Q: Like Operator Logic in Queries I have written the following SQL statement: SELECT ROW_NUMBER() OVER (ORDER BY (SELECT NULL)) AS RowID, [WorkItemType], [Title], [Title-Body], [Comment], [Priority], [Created], [CreatedBy] FROM [WorkItems].[dbo].[tblSharedGatedChanges] This is the output: My requirement is that the query should only return rows that contains "Fixed - Gated - Review" in the Title-Body and OrderBy Title-Body Desc. But as you can see, this query is not returning rows that are having the above values. So I tried changing the query to: SELECT ROW_NUMBER() OVER (ORDER BY (SELECT NULL)) AS RowID, [WorkItemType]

Vertebral artery dissections (VADs) are usually secondary to trauma, connective tissue abnormalities, inflammation, and congenital abnormalities. Histopathologic examination reveals arteriosclerotic changes in the wall of the artery, with inflammatory cells and fibroblastic proliferation extending into the vessel. In blunt trauma, an axial-force impaction causes an acute disruption of the wall of the artery with intimal and adventitial tears or sloughing.[[ref1]] The diagnosis usually requires lumbar spine computed tomography or magnetic resonance imaging. The treatment is conservative if there are no neurologic deficits. If there is spinal canal compromise, the indications for surgical intervention are acute and chronic instability with loss of conservative management. Cervical artery dissection, either anterolateral or posterolateral, is also called Dissecting Aortic Aneurysm (DAA). When dissection occurs in the ipsilateral subclavian artery, it is called Superior Inferior Vertebral Artery (SIVA) dissection. The treatment for dissection, whether cervical or vertebral, is based on the early detection and follow-up. The diagnosis is difficult, and the history of trauma is not always clear. The treatment of SIVA dissection is based on the treatment of the cervical artery dissection. The treatment of SVA dissection is based on the treatment of the cervical artery dissection. The treatment of SIVA dissection is based on the treatment of the cervical artery dissection.[[ref2]] Case Report {#sec1-2} ===== A 35-year-old male presented to emergency department with acute onset of neck pain, tingling, and diminished sensation in the left upper extremity and arm. On examination, the patient had 2/5 motor power in the left arm with hypoesthesia in all the extremities, more on the left side [Figure 1{ref-type="fig"}]. The patient had a history of blunt trauma in the left upper limb a few days before presentation. The patient had been evaluated by a physician in the outpatient department for neck pain.
